For the usability and heuristics evaluation I chose all the tasks that I did not already complete for the full testing on the site. Those tasks are highlighted in pink. For these tasks I am going to evaluate and then I am going to talk about what I would want to happen in the future.

1. For the tasks 4 & 5 I wanted to perform an evaluation on the flexibility and efficiency of use category. On my WordPress site I managed to get the layout in order for the customer to be able to edit their reminders on their profile. But, without knowing any back-end coding or how to do that on WordPress, the save profile link did nothing. So, in the future I want to be able to make the profile update LIVE when the customer makes changes. I give this rating a 1.

2. For the tasks 6,7, & 8 I wanted to perform an evaluation on the user control and freedom of the profile. On my WordPress site I wanted to make sure the user could go into the profile and add whatever information they felt like they needed, and I did a pretty good job about that. The only issue I am having is not knowing how to make the profile update in real time to update the information. The customer has many sections to edit, add, or remove the information to the profile but it goes nowhere. The user control and freedom of their profile is excellent, but there are still small issues to be fixed. I give this rating a 1.

3. For the final task 11 I wanted to perofrm an evaluation on the consistency and standards of the profile. The profile layout is very consistent and you can add a lot of information there to make it fully customizable, but I wasn't sure how I could make adult settings see one thing, but the child profile see only the minimal. In the future I want to use the same standard profile, but the adults see all the information and a kids account(under 18) only see the information that the adult allows.
